Beach Baseball

Manager L. A. Shaffer, of the O. B. ball club, anounces that arrangements are being made for all local fans to meet at the Maine Garage on Newport avenue next Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock for the trip to Escondido, where a game will be played early in the afternoon. ——— Badges will be supplied to all Beachites and boosters a-plenty are urged to go with our champion ball team for the enjoyment of a good ride, a good game, and a general good time. Let's go!

TIE GAME LAST SUNDAY

By "BULLETS."

Ocean Beach and Neighborhood House baseball teams played a 7-7 tie game last Sunday on the O. B. grounds. After a poor start, the fast O. B. team came from behind and tied the score, which seemed to be a sure defeat. Good work by Centerfielder Reiner and Pitcher Ragsdale saved the day and avoided what would have been the first sting of defeat for the O. B. team.

Final results:	R.	H.	E.
Neighborhood House	7	8	2
Ocean Beach	7	9	3

Batteries: Neighborhood House, Salgado, Mesa and Estrada. Ocean Beach, Steward, Ragsdale and Owens.

Game called in ninth inning on account of darkness.

ON THE SIDE LINES.

By "BULLETS."

Southpaw" Steward had a bad day Sunday. Now he has fire in his eye for revenge on the Neighborhoods.

Outfielder O'Leary's fine drive between left and center for a two-bagger, started the fireworks.

Evans redeemed himself with a nice two-base hit, scoring O'Leary with the tie run.

Ragsdale hit a high one on top of the house for a couple of bags and then scored on a single.

A fine bunch of Mission Beach fans came over and boosted the Ocean Beach team from start to finish. Keep coming, fellow beachites. We appreciate your loyalty.

"Shorty" Shafter aged a couple of years in the first couple of innings and remarked after the game: "Oh, Boy! what a close call!"

Capt. Herb Webster was not in uniform Sunday as Officer Reama was on his vacation, but will be in uniform the next time "Play Ball" is called.

Evans says: "I'm sure glad that game is out of our system."

Ogden asserts: "Sure was rotten Sunday, but watch me next time."

Bullett Joe Bush had nothing on Centerfielder Reiner's peg to Ragsdale in the last half of the eighth.

Billy Ritchley was noticed on the firing line Sunday for the first time.

The rooting of Jack Neumont and "National Cash Register" Mason on the side lines helped the home team wonderfully. Hope they will be in Escondido next Sunday.

WEDDING BELLS RING MERRILY FOR EDWIN REED AND IRENE MAY LARRICK

On the four hundred and thirty-first anniversary of the day that Christopher Columbus discovered America, the able, witty and well known public administrator of San Diego county, Edwin Reed, discovered that becoming a beatific benedict is blessedly better than being a blissless bachelor.

Surprising his many friends, "Eddie," as he is familiarly called, was wedded on Friday, October 12, at Oceanside, to Irene May Larrick, a clever and deservedly popular young business woman of San Diego.

Justice C. L. Berry, a close personal friend of the groom, performed the marriage ceremony at 10 o'clock in the morning and with hearty congratulations by those in attendance, the happy couple started on a honeymoon tour by auto through Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed returned to San Diego last Tuesday and will keep "open house from now on" at 3640 Grimm street, where the groom has had a beautiful home built and furnished for his bride—and thereby unfolds a joyful secret.

Be it now known to all men, and women, too, that the aforesaid "Eddie" did bargain and barter, contract and consider, design and determine, and with the astute assistance of Irene May, have thence and there built at the aforesaid mentioned address a love-nest and abiding place for their truly happy selves and their assigns and legatees forever and aye—God bless 'em!

Mr. and Mrs. Reed, or rather Eddie and May, as the immediate staff of The Beach News best know them, are old-time personal friends of Katherine and Kirk, who sincerely wish them unbounded joy and prosperity in their most worthily united lives.

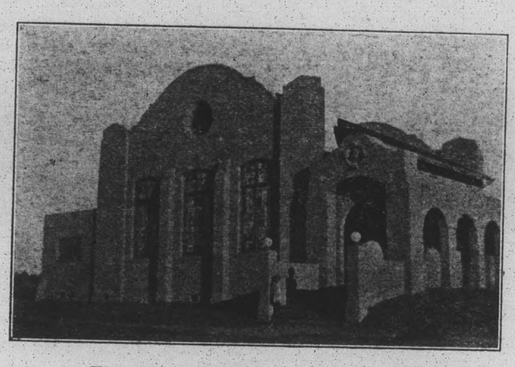
ON TO ESCONDIDO!

The O. B. team plays at Escondido next Sunday and Herb Webster is trying to get all the cars he can for fans to go up and root. "If any one going has some spare room and can take a rooter or two, let either Webster or Manager Shaffer know before Saturday night, for we leave Sunday morning about 9:30 o'clock. All loyal rooters be on the job at the Main Garage and show that Ocean Beach is true-blue to its team.

Southwestern Baptist Association



First Baptist Church, Ocean Beach.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT SPECIAL CHURCH MEETINGS IN OCEAN BEACH

Beginning last Tuesday and ending yesterday, there has been an exceptionally large attendance at the special meetings held at the Ocean Beach Baptist church by the Southwestern Baptist Association. Following the opening exercises, the first day was devoted to recognition of delegates and complete organization of the association.

On Wednesday morning the association field was considered and the problems of Imperial county and San Diego county were discussed. The afternoon was set aside for women's day and the Woman's Missionary society, presided over by Mrs. Cox. Following a banquet by the B. Y. P. U. the early part of Wednesday evening was given over to a young people's session, after which services were held in the main auditorium. Addresses were delivered by Dr. F. G. Davies and Dr. Harper, the latter replacing Dr. J. A. Francis, who was kept away by illness.

Reports of committees and election of officers consumed the morning Thursday session, and the afternoon was devoted to Sunday school discussion and educational talks.

The Harvard plan was adopted in the entertainment of delegates.

SAVING MONEY FOR XMAS.

By EMILY RUIZ, Grade 8-B

Making Christmas money is a great hobby o fmine. I have a lot of fun seeing the money changing from pennies to dollars. Last Christmas I worked in the "Orange Mill" and made all the orangeade and root beer that was sold. My mother saves all the pennies that she gets hold of and puts them in a tin bank that I have at home. Every penny adds to the others, and at Christmas time you will be surprised to see what you have profited by saving your small change.

HOW THE FACE CAME ON THE DOLLAR

By Rosalind Turley, Sixth Grade.

About the year 1878 the government gave the right to a young artist to decorate the dollar in any way he wished. He finally decided he wanted to put an eagle on one side and the head of the Statue of Liberty on the other. He secured an eagle and clipped its wings for the picture for one side of the dollar. The Statue of Liberty was too large to model when close by, and its features were not distinct at a distance, so he did not know what to do. One day when he was almost in despair, he saw Miss Springs, a young Philadelphia school teacher, walking along. Her profile was like that of the Statue of Liberty. He asked her if he could put her face on the dollar. At first she refused him, but at last she consented. It is said that Mrs. Springs, her mother, handled the first dollar ever made, and never realized it was her daughter, and not the Statue of Liberty, as everyone thought it was.

WORK IN THE 4-B GRADE

By HARVEY RUBIN, 4-B Grade.

The pupils of our grade are making the San Diefo Mission. They have made about two hundred adobe bricks. They are also making a large Navajo rug of jute. The colors are gray and red.

We are going to have a five-act play about the California Indians. The wigwam is finished, but the pupils are still bringing more things for it.

They are also making a map of Alta California and the missions. Each pupil is making a basket, and a small Indian rug.

MY TRIP TO SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK

By Harriette Christenson, Grade 8-B

Sequoia National Park is about half way between San Diego and San Francisco.

The first Monday of vacation at 4 o'clock in the morning we started on our way. We camped on top of the ridge route the first night.

The next day we went through Bakersfield and camped near Lemon Cave. We stayed there the next day also, because it wa sthe 4th of July, and the traffic was terrible.

The grade is the worst road I ever saw, going straight up. The park was beautiful, and it gets its name after the big Sequoia redwoods which are in the park.

We saw many deer which were quite tame. There are many wonderful trails among the Sequoias. We went up on Moro rock which is two thousand feet high, and we could look down through the great western divide. We spent a week there.

City Consolidation?

SPECIAL ELECTION 4 OFFICIALLY ANNOUNCED FOR NEXT TUESDAY

Sample ballots and instructions to voters are being officially sent to the electorate of San Diego relative to the proposed consolidation with the city of East San Diego for which a special election has been called on Tuesday, October 23. The question of consolidation also embodies the proposition that all property within the two cities shall be taxed equally to pay the bonded indebtedness of both municipalities. The sample ballots contain lengthy and complete lists of improvements for which the bonded indebtedness was incurred, the amount of such indebtedness now outstanding and the maximum rate of interest to be paid. The totals run way up in the millions and the average rate of interest is about five per cent.

BEACHITES REQUESTED TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF DRUGGIST KRAFT'S OFFER

"Habit is certainly a curious thing," said Druggist F. H. Kraft, the enterprising proprietor of the new Ocean Beach Pharmacy, when discussing the other night his free delivery service for residents of the trio of beaches.

"It seems that a majority of folks hereabouts have formed the habit of going after the goods themselves when they wanted a prescription filled or a little something or other from a drug store," continued the philosophical pharmacist. "Yet, it's my earnest desire to change the old order of things for the benefit of our beach people."

"Service is the mainspring of business these days, and that's what the Ocean Beach Pharmacy now emphasizes in every way," asserted Druggist Kraft. "It is our special aim to give free delivery anywhere in this section. Our patrons are earnestly requested to phone in their prescriptions and other orders which will be promptly delivered without extra charge."

"Please remind the good folks of the beach districts," concluded Pharmacist Kraft, "that we are as near to them as their phone. Our call number is Point Loma 70-J, and we are open from 7:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS WARNING ISSUED BY STATE HEALTH BOARD

Following a decade of comparative freedom from poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) the reporting of 22 scattered cases last month has caused some uneasiness to officials of the state board of health.

To keep the disease under control and prevent a possible epidemic, the board advises that children should be kept off the streets and away from other children, that no sick person should be in the same house with children, that any illness in a child be regarded with suspicion, and that sick children be isolated at once until the nature of their illness is determined.

The last widespread outbreak of poliomyelitis in California in 1912, caused paralysis to half the 531 persons affected and death to one-fourth.

The disease affects adults as well as children and manifests itself in various forms, the board says and for this reason any illness should be regarded with special care.

FINALLY SHE GOT TO IT

But Woman on Phone Had Many Important Things to Tell the Fire Station First.

"Halloa!" shouted the fireman on the telephone.

"Halloa!" came back in feminine tones. "Is this the fire station?"

"Yes; what is it?"

"Well, I want to inform you that my garden runs right up to the walk that runs along the side of the Browns' walk next door—'

"You've got the wrong number, ma'am," said the fireman.

"You said this was the fire station, didn't you?"

"Yes; but—"

"Well, I'm trying hard to raise a respectable lawn, and have lately planted grass seed as far as the Browns' walk. Then, besides the grass seed, I had it tidied up and made ready for planting bulbs, and—"

"I say, ma'am, you are mistaken in the telephone number," insisted the fireman. "This—"

"Isn't this the fire station?"

"It is; but—"

"Very well. Now, I want to say further that, however careless our neighbors are with their garden, we are very much the other way. In fact, a pretty lawn, adorned with a variety of flowers, is what I and my husband are looking for next season," said the lady.

"For heaven's sake, ma'am, what has this to do with the fire station?"

"Oh, well, our house is No. 200 School street, and the Browns' house next door is on fire. Now, don't let your firemen trample—"

But the fireman had dropped the receiver.

TURN WARSHIPS INTO RAZORS

New Salvage Has Been Discovered for Cast-Off Warships That Are to Be Broken Up.

It was the immortal Jerry Simpson who said, "What do we want a navy for; to plow corn with?" Jerry's question might be answered now: "No, but to shave with."

The Orion, one of the older British dreadnaughts, is being broken up in an English shipyard, and the best of its steel is to be used for making safety razor blades, observes the Wichita Eagle.

There ought to be a good many first-class shaves in a dreadnaught. Even such a submarine as Great Britain is about to put into commission, mounting a 13.5-inch gun, ought to keep a household in razor blades for quite some time. This kind of ship costs approximately $6,000,000; the battleships about six or seven times that amount. For ten years they may serve to keep their nation's flag afloat with due honor, but then they begin to get a little out of date and must be turned into safety razor blades.

Henceforth we shall not consider money expended upon a big warship altogether lost, even if we never get a chance to use that ship to sink other ships. We always can salvage a million good shaves out of a $30,000,000 warship.

Thoroughly Joined.

A bridal couple set out on their honeymoon from a New Jersey town with the bridegroom's left hand shackled to the right hand of the bride. The key to the handcuffs was in the groom's pocket. The happy couple were afraid that some of their jocular friends might try to separate them after the wedding. It is considered a good joke in the town to start the bride away on a north-bound train and the groom on one south-bound.

Electric Light Angling.

An experiment is being made in Norwegian waters to catch fish with the aid of electric light. There is a quantity of brisling in Hardanger fjord, but they lie at a depth too great for them to be caught in nets. An attempt was made to attract them to the surface by means of electric light shining from the deck of a steamer. Already a certain amount of success has been attained.

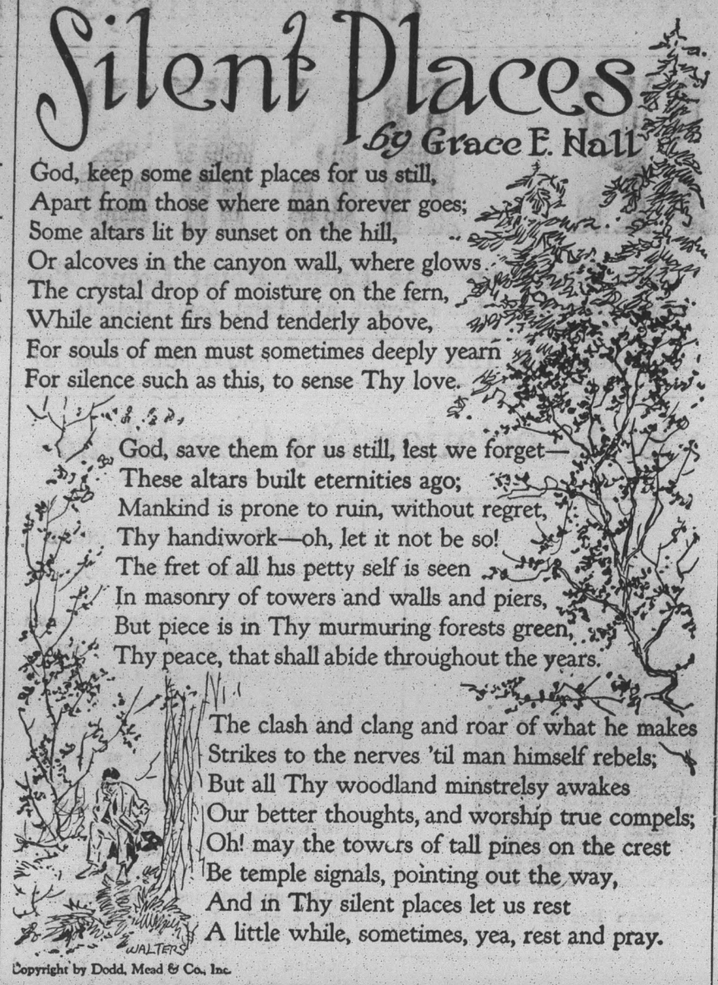
C San Diego and its BEACHES

Silent Places

by Grace E. Hall



God, keep some silent places for us still,
Apart from those where man forever goes;
Some altars lit by sunset on the hill,
Or alcoves in the canyon wall, where glows
The crystal drop of moisture on the fern,
While ancient firs bend tenderly above,
For souls of men must sometimes deeply yearn
For silence such as this, to sense Thy love.

God, save them for us still, lest we forget—
These altars built eternities ago;
Mankind is prone to ruin, without regret,
Thy handiwork—oh, let it not be so!
The fret of all his petty self is seen
In masonry of towers and walls and piers,
But piece is in Thy murmuring forests green,
Thy peace, that shall abide throughout the years.

The clash and clang and roar of what he makes
Strikes to the nerves 'til man himself rebels;
But all Thy woodland minstrelsy awakes
Our better thoughts, and worship true compels;
Oh! may the towers of tall pines on the crest
Be temple signals, pointing out the way,
And in Thy silent places let us rest
A little while, sometimes, yea, rest and pray.

The Beach Is Growing BIGGER, BETTER AND BUSIER

Tune Came In Useful.

Two English journalists in Rome wished to go to a bull-fight on a recent Sunday. They engaged a chariot, but could not make the coachman understand where to take them. They said "bull-fight" in various British idioms without avail, and even an improvised sketch of a bull was unprofitable. At last one of them whistled the opening bars of the Toreador's song in "Carmen," and the music-loving Italian seized the reins, whipped up his horse, and drove them straight to their destination.

Jail Prisoner Forgotten.

After being held in Schenectady county (N. Y.) jail more than three months, a prisoner was set free. Officials were unable to determine why the man was a prisoner. Police records, however, showed that he had been arrested on a charge of robbery and was sent to jail to await action of the grand jury. Since that time the man had been forgotten, it was said, because no records concerning him were found in any of the various county departments.

Gladsome Celebration

FABER'S FINE HOME
A VERITABLE FAIRYLAND
FOR DOUBLE BIRTHDAYS

With the whole interior decorated in the attractive Hallowe'en colors of orange and black, the Faber residence at 4967 Saratoga avenue presented a beautiful fairyland appearance last Friday, October 12.

The happy occasion marked the combined celebration of the birthdays of G. H. Faber and little "Buddy" Faber, and gladsome merry-making was the highly enjoyable keynote of the day and evening.

At the dual birthday dinner, bon-bon baskets adorned each plate, and the favors were artistic tiny dolls with tinkling bells.

"Buddy's" birthday cake was decorated with four pretty candles in pink and white, denoting his age, while Mr. Faber's big cake held two tall candles, representing his first birthday and this one—nobody stopping to count the ones in between—for the popular grocery man ever bubbles with youthful vigor and generous good nature.

Three delicious cakes were baked and served by Mrs. Faber and there was a most bounteous supply of sandwiches, ice cream and candy, besides a plentitude of presents for the principal pair of participants in the pleasurable party.

The list of younger guests of Master "Buddy" Faber included Ella Cole, Louis Cole, Ramona Cole, Scotty Miller, Barbara Burdette, Yvonne Burdete, Madeline Burdette, Buster Allen, Clara Penny, Junior Howe, Betty Howe, Winifred Losey, Butler Harrison, Willis Kenline, Winnie Kenline, Ruth Hubbard, Dorothy Hubbard and Charlotte Thomas, all of whom, as well as the grown-ups enjoyed themselves to the uttermost.

That is, he can unless the pipe dream comes to a sudden end. For one thing the German courts are ruling that the theory "a mark is a mark" doesn't go,—that a debtor has to give back a fair equivalent for what he received and that present paper marks worth 120,000 to the dollar are not the fair equivalent of former gold marks at four to the dollar.

DOGS AGAIN.

Editor The Beach News:

San Diego has had another shock by the murder of eight of our beautiful pets in the deer park by one of those domesticated wolves called Airedale dogs, the most hideous of all dogs. Some dogs are beautiful animals with eyes superior to many humans, but the eye of this new breed of this new breedshrlupunpun breed of dogs called "Airedale" is the most fiendish and cruel of any eye known. If you doubt it, examine one carefully, and then "fess up," provided it is not your pet. Everyone acquainted with the beast will admit that they are of a savage nature. Remember those of Coronado? Only a short time ago two of them tore a boy to pieces before the eyes of his mother and the rest of the family who were having a day off in a public park. The newspapers tell us that eleven people have died this year in Southern California from hydrophobia, the most terrible death known. It has long been known that the tapeworm originates in dogs, and that they are determined to plant the eggs by licking the child's mouth. Now the asthma and cancer, to say nothing of mange and vermin. But these things are of yesterday, and ancient history now, so will this outrage on our pets in the park be forgotten by tomorrow, when a new horror arrives. But what of all this if some persons who like the despised bootlegger, are too lazy to work for a iving, will breed dogs, to be a curse to their neighbors, for money.

Of course when damage is done, no one owns the cur, and I will call the attention of the city officers to the fact (of course they know it now) that a large percentage of the dogs of all breeds that curse our fair city pay no license, and carry no identification marks, like the park case. Where is the dog catcher? When laws are not enforced, they are held in contempt?

CATCHING THE TRAIN

By ROY BROOKS, Grade 2-A.

Across th emoss grown plain she dashed,
Like a frightened deer;
Around the last curve the light flashed,
As the train was coming near.

She looked like she weighed a ton,
As she approached the track;
She appeared to me a frightened "Hun,"
As she threw down her pack.

DREAMLAND.

By ROY LEONARD, Grade 6-B

There is a land of ri:ers and streams,
A land of silvery moonbeams;
It is on the rim of the ocean,
A land of beautiful dreams.

We shall go there in my crystal boat,
E're the sun goes down in its golden moat,
Before a moon comes up silvery bright.

We shall reach the strand of that sunny land;
From demons and druids free.
A land of rest in the golden west,
On the verge of the azure sea.

MEN AND WOMEN

Many a man's aim in life is not to have any.

When a man stands on his dignity he sometimes puts his foot in it.

A woman cares not who saves the money if she is allowed to spend it.

The man who doesn't have to work for a living misses the greatest sport of life.

When two women talk the subject of their conversation is conspicuously absent.

A woman is always contrary enough to agree with a man just when he doesn't want her to.

Once in a while a man is too proud to beg and too honest to steal, and then he goes to work.

Many a man is kept busy trying to avoid doing the foolish things he would really like to do.

After a man has been married a year he can't see any reason why his wife should want a new hat.

It takes a woman who doesn't know how to do a thing to do it better than a man who knows all about it.

If a man sits down in an easy chair and waits for the automobile of success to come along he will never get there.

SAID IN EARNEST

Misunderstandings can separate friends far more widely than either time or space.

The happy man has a double chance of being good, and the same rule applies to children.

One eminent authority has beautifully described flowers as the divine children of the dews and sun.

What you must do at first through force of character you will later be able to do through force of habit.

Earnest men are so few in the world that their very earnestness becomes at once the badge of their nobility.

Failure, to the man who learns, means experience, and experience is equipment, and equipment is wealth.

Misunderstanding goes on like a fallen stitch in a stocking, which in the beginning might have been taken up by a needle.

A just estimate of people's characters cannot be formed by what others say about them, but one may judge somewhat by what they say of others.

SOME FOLKS THINK

That a perambulator is a merry-go-round.

That Bobby Burns was a cigar manufacturer.

That a porter in a library picks up an education.

That it is safe to let the baby play with a safety razor.

That a minute man was a watchman in the Revolutionary war.

That a telephone exchange is a branch of the stock market.

That hair tonic can be used on a brush to make the bristles grow.

That the League of Nations is a European baseball organization.

That murdering the English language is part of the crime wave.

GOLD BRICKS

Keys for safes.

A giraffe on stilts.

Crutches for snails.

A sofa pillow in a pig pen.

Lace curtains on a freight car.

A chorus girl at the North pole.

The extra room in a haunted house.

A dumb waiter in a one-story bungalow.

A sporting editor for the Congressional Record.

A present of a tie pin for a man who only wears bow ties.

LITTLE SERMONS

Only the actions of the just smell sweet and blossom in the dust.

Act well at the moment and you have performed a good action to all eternity.

Don't try to warp the truth to fit you—fit yourself to the truth.

There is more trouble in having nothing to do than in having much to do.

THE KING OF STORES

One department store in Chicago occupies an exclusive building having a floor area of about forty-four acres. The space occupied by this building extends from forty-three feet below the street level to more than two hundred feet above the surface of the surrounding streets.

America holds many astounding examples of business enterprise, but this store is an enviable illustration of the great and valuable institutions that can be built up by concentrated and continuous painstaking effort to anticipate requirements and approximate perfection.

Accompanying a guide through this establishment you will hear a spiel something like this: "The main aisle of this store is three-hundred and eighty-five feet long. In normal times more than 9,000 men, women, boys and girls are required to perform the service of maintaining the operation of this great retail establishment. During special sale periods and the holiday season as many as 12,500 names have been on the payroll at one time. About 350 motor trucks and delivery vehicles are in daily operation hauling new stocks of goods from the railway stations, steamship docks and warehouses and delivering the purchases to the myriads of customers in the nearby territory. One of the largest switchboards ever constructed for a single institution is employed to transact the telephone business of this store with its customers. The average number of calls handled per day is in the neighborhood of 36,000. In extra busy times the number of calls has exceeded 50,000 in a single day.

"The basement floor contains more than 170,000 square feet of space and is the largest single-floor store on earth. For the purpose of speeding up the movement of patrons, employees, packages and freight within this store 92 elevators are in service. These elevators carry an average of about 25,000 passengers an hour and run 1,000 miles a day—or the distance from Chicago to New York. The entire seventh floor is divided into large rooms devoted to restaurant purposes; 3,900 persons can be served at one time, making this the largest known dining room. A separate dining room is operated for the officers and employees. All told about two-hundred and fifty cooks and helpers and 500 waitresses are required to handle the throngs which eat here daily. To light, heat, ventilate and operate this enormous store building, power sufficient to furnish light for a city of 100,000 inhabitants is required.

CALIFORNIA NEWS BRIEFS

Ray Brooker, San Francisco newsboy, was arrested in the home of his mother for the murder of Louis Bacciocca, (Dago Louie), gangster and supervisor of street sales for the San Francisco Chronicle. Bacciocco was shot to death in the mailing room of the Chronicle a month ago. Brooker was arrested when he attempted to visit his wife. He refused to tell the whereabouts of Edward Neilas, who is alleged to have fired the shots which killed Bacciocca.

Santa Barbara city and county authorities are curious to know what the wild waves are saying to members of a love cult that is said to be thriving on the sands of the beach there. A community home, mostly occupied by women who sleep in rows on the beach by night and are awakened by the high priest's kiss in the early morn, after which the lame leap and the blind see, are reports that the authorities want to verify.

Hundreds of followers of the Rosary from all parts of California participated in the annual observance of the Feast of the Most Holy Rosary, established to commemorate the Christian victory over the Turks in 1571, held in St. Dominic's church, San Francisco. Noted clergy from other cities assisted in the services, which surpassed in pomp and splendor any like ceremony ever held there.

With 2,731 students enrolled at Stanford University all previous records have been broken. New students registered this year number 802, of which 163 are women.
